Figs. 21 and 22. - Mamm temporality occupied by A. jamae herdsman in the region of the Desaguadero (left bank). The roof is cupola shaped. These dwellings are made of clods of earth (drawn from a photograph).

An inventory of the furnishings and objects found in these huts can be quickly made. I took one; there were mats for sleeping, a clay cook stove, a sort of small enclosure containing burnable material, pottery of different shapes and sizes, a mortar, some spindles, balls of wool, textile fabric which was generally coarsely woven, sometimes some fishing equipment, and finally a broom. Passing into the courtyard one generally notices string, weirs, swords, a loom, and farming implements of European origin.

The vessels are not locally produced. They are imported and /Fig. 22 appears here/ come from some indigenous industry of the Atlatlano. . The pots were shaped on a wheel and bear a
